

LAWYER GAVE HIS LIFE FOR GUESTS

Raymond S. White Dies from Injuries Received in the Wreck of an Auto Which He Was Guiding.

HE MIGHT HAVE SAVED HIMSELF BY JUMPING.

But He Stuck to the Lever of His Powerful Touring Car and Ran It Into a Ditch to Avoid Hitting a Farm Wagon.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BAYLTON, L. I., Dec. 21.—Raymond S. White, a well-known New York lawyer, whose big touring car crashed into a ditch on the road near Bay Shore on Saturday night while he was taking a party of guests to the place at Great Neck, died to-day at the farm house of Henry M. Johnson, near here, as a result of his injuries.

Little hope of White's recovery was held out from the first, as the big automobile fell on him, crushing him badly, and he was removed from the wreck unconscious and in a dying condition.

A Man of Wealth.
Mr. White was a member of the law firm of Baldwin & White, of No. 37 Pine street. He was a wealthy man and had a fine country place at Great Neck. He lived at No. 113 West Seventy-second street, New York, but was fond of going out to his Great Neck estate on Saturdays and spending his Sundays there. It was his custom to take parties of friends out with him as guests, and for this purpose he had a large, powerful, four-seated touring car. Sometimes he drove this himself, but more often he had a chauffeur for the purpose.

The names of the party which accompanied Mr. White on Saturday night are not known. There were eight altogether. It is said, and they got a late start from New York.

Mr. White took his guests along the south shore and it was dark when Baylton was reached. No stop was made here, the big automobile shooting through the main street of the village at a high rate of speed. But just beyond here, where there is a long stretch of straight, even road, Mr. White started to hit it up. With the lights of Bay Shore in plain sight, and every one merry and gay, there suddenly loomed up in the road ahead the outlines of a big farm wagon.

Told His Guest to Jump.
It was loaded high with produce and the driver could not be seen. He paid no attention to the repeated warnings of the horn, however, and when a collision was seen to be unavoidable, Mr. White took the only course that was possible under the circumstances. He shouted to his guests to jump, and as they jumped he turned the automobile sharply off to the side of the road in an endeavor to cross the ditch, which is about four feet deep at this point.

All of the others in the automobile jumped and, beyond a shaking-up, sustained no injuries. Mr. White, clinging to the lever, when the machine somersaulted into the ditch he was beneath its great weight. The others hastened to the scene and after a lot of work managed to extricate the unfortunate man. He was unconscious and bleeding from several wounds. His deep groans indicated internal injuries, and without loss of time he was carried to Mr. Johnson's farm, which was the nearest place.

Dr. Hulse was summoned, and after he had made the injured man as comfortable as possible, the rest of the party went on their way. Mr. White had a turn for the worse on Sunday night, and he died at 10 o'clock.

Arrangements for the funeral are incomplete and the body is at present at the Johnson homestead. Mrs. White, who was a graduate of Yale and a member of the University Club.

SIX OVERCOME BY GAS.

Pipe Bursts in Newark Commission House, Resulting in Six Deaths.
NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 21.—Six men employed in Quinn & Co.'s commission house, at Nos. 22 and 24 Commerce street, were overcome by gas in the cellar of the establishment to-day, and two of them, Lawrence Welsh and George Diebold, are in a precarious condition. The other four, who were revived, are Edward Quinn, Edward Reilly, Tony Miller and Charles Burke. Employees of the gas company had taken out two meters earlier in the day and substituted one larger one. After they had left the main pipe burst, and the gas rushed through the cellar in such volume that the men were overcome before it could be turned off.

BIG GIFT FOR FATHER BURKE.

Recognition of His Work Among Negroes Here.
In recognition of a quarter century's missionary work among the negroes of this city a gift of nearly $30,000 will be presented to the Rev. John E. Burke, rector of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Benedict the Moor, West Fifth-third street, upon his arrival here on Wednesday next from Europe.

M'CLELLAN WANTS OLD HOME

Seeks to Buy His Father's Former House at Orange.
Rumor says Mayor-elect George B. McClellan is trying to purchase the former home of his father, which is situated on the mountain side of West Orange.

The house now is owned by William McClellan, of New York, and has been closed for a long time.
